

“High-tech meets tradition:”

We would like to introduce ourselves:

Our philosophy corresponds to the requirements of ISO 9001:2015.

Customer orientation & sustainable success.

Excellent customer relations have always guaranteed the sustainable success of our company, such as constant turnover and setup of a clear risk management. Like in the past, the following statement still applies today: “The customer is king!”

Management & Leadership.

Management and executives lead by example: through high-quality communication and genuine leadership, we increase the added value for our employees and for our customers.

Commitment of the employees.

For around 70 years, we have been providing high-quality printing results and we secure jobs in an ever-changing industrial environment. That is why we know that the allocation of resources must concern our employees, too. Know-how, motivation and satisfaction are of our utmost importance.

Process-oriented approach.

Many years of experience have led to the fact that nowadays we can see ourselves as a process organization in which everything depends on the processes and their interfaces. And thus, on the customer. We live flat hierarchies and team readiness.

Continuous improvement process (CIP).

We live in processes, always dynamic and highly vigilant. We live an open culture of error management, through which we not only improve ourselves continuously, but strive for perfection: our complaints rate is < 0.01 %, our on-time delivery reliability rate is 100 %. We are always electrified and stand on our tiptoes. Not just when an audit is due.

Fact-based decision making.

As an independent, owner-managed family business company in its third generation, with no corporate affiliation, we stick to tried-and-true approaches: Diligence and accuracy, state-of-the-art machinery, hard metrics, regular evaluation of risks & opportunities.

Relationship management and sustainability.

We regularly support sports, social and artistic projects in the Rhine-Neckar region. For us, sustainable success includes sustainable use of resources. We maintain genuine and long-term partnership to our business partners and to potential interested parties. We honor the history of our industry sector at our own premises with the Benz Printing Museum – a collection of working machinery from the beginning of printing.

We want to provide you with individual solutions on your projects.

We are looking forward to your positive feedback!
